

Once upon a time, there was a boy named Doyun who dreamed of going to space. Doyun was the bravest boy in his Ilsan, he loved space. He told his English teacher Bongsoo, "I'm going to explore the whole universe!"

Doyun asked Mr.Bongsoo how to build a spaceship. Bongsoo showed him how. They spent all day building a spaceship.

When it was ready, hopped into the spaceship and zoomed off into space. First stop, Mercury! It was the hottest planet in the whole solar system, like an oven baking cookies all day long. Doyun felt like he was in a giant sauna!

Next, he flew to Venus, the brightest planet. It sparkled like a diamond in the sky, and Doyun thought it was the shiniest place he'd ever seen!

Then came Earth, his own home. He looked down and saw all the beautiful oceans and mountains. "Earth is the most wonderful planet!" he said with a smile.

Mars was next, the reddest planet of them all. It was as if someone had painted the whole place with a giant red crayon. "This is the most colorful planet!" Doyun exclaimed.

Jupiter, the biggest planet, greeted him with swirling clouds and a giant red spot. Doyun didn't like Jupiter because it smelled like old dirty cheese!

Saturn was neat! With its magnificent rings. "Saturn is the coolest planet !" Doyun shouted joyfully.

Uranus and Neptune were the farthest planets. They were the coldest and windiest, covered in icy clouds. "These are the most mysterious planets!" Doyun was starting to get cold. But there is one more tiny planet to explore.

Finally, Pluto, the tiniest planet, waved at Doyun with its icy heart. "Even though you're small, you're still the cutest planet!" Doyun giggled.

After his incredible adventure visiting all the planets, Doyun returned to Mr.Bongsoo's pizza shop, filled with stories of his amazing journey. He thanked Mr.Bongsoo for building a rocket with him.